Invited Talks

Camilo Rodríguez Ronderos & Ira Noveck. How irony is revealing of intentions in utterance understanding. Video-Talk given at the Laboratoire de linguistique formelle of the University of Paris, France, 27.03.2020

Camilo Rodríguez Ronderos. Processing metaphors in object positions. Talk given at the Center for Multilingualism in Society across the Lifespan, University of Oslo, 21.01.2020

Camilo Rodríguez Ronderos. Performing Power Analyses through simulations. Workshop given at the Center for General Linguistics (ZAS), Berlin 13.01.2020

Camilo Rodríguez Ronderos. The role of speaker commitment and theory of Mind in understanding Irony. Talk given at the department of cognitive science at the University of Neuchatel, Switzerland, 14.11.2019

Camilo Rodríguez Ronderos. The Processing of ironic utterances: expectation bias & speaker commitment. Talk given at the brown-bag Lunch, Institut des Sciences Cognitives-Marc Jeannerod, Lyon, 16.09.2019

Camilo Rodríguez Ronderos. Verb-Object metaphors: Evidence against analogical reasoning models. Talk given at the semantics/syntax colloquium of the linguistics department, University of Potsdam, 02.07.2019

Camilo Rodríguez Ronderos. The processing of German verb-object metaphors. Talk given at the Empirisches Kolloquium of the linguistics department, University of Cologne, 10.04.2019

Selected Conference Presentations

Camilo Rodríguez Ronderos, Ernesto Guerra & Pia Knoeferle. The costs and benefits of different metaphoric structures: evidence from pupillometry. short talk given at the 34th CUNY conference, University of Pennsylvania. 05.03.2021

Camilo Rodríguez Ronderos, Ernesto Guerra & Pia Knoeferle. The processing of German verb-object metaphors. Poster presented at the Xprag.it annual conference in Cagliari, Italy. 18.09.2019

Camilo Rodríguez Ronderos, Ernesto Guerra & Pia Knoeferle. Integrating visual and verbal information during online processing of non-nominal metaphors. Poster presented at the Linguistic Evidence 2018 conference In Tübingen, Germany.

John Michael Tomlinson & Camilo Rodríguez Ronderos. Ignorant before exhaustive: mouse-tracking inferences from under-informative partial answers. Talk given at AMLAP 2015 in Malta.

John Michael Tomlinson & Camilo Rodríguez Ronderos. Implying exhaustivity and ignorance in partial answers. Poster presented at CUNY 2015, University of Southern California.

John Michael Tomlinson & Camilo Rodríguez Ronderos. Perspective-taking and inference: do speakers alter partial answers as a function of their epistemic states? Talk given at the 2015 Conference of the German Linguistic Society (Dgfs) in Leipzig.

Camilo Rodríguez Ronderos & John Michael Tomlinson. Polarity expectations in ironic discourse. Talk given at the 16th Szklarska Poreba Workshop on the roots of Pragmasemantics. Szklarska, 2015

Technical skills

R, Experiment Builder, DataViewer, Mouse-Tracker, E-Prime, i.a.

Ad-hoc Reviewing

Annual Meeting of the Cognitive Science Society

DETEC (Discourse Expectations: Theoretical, Experimental, and Computational perspectives) Conference

Professional Memberships

Member of the Cognitive Science Society

Organization

Lead organizer of the ESLP (Embodied and Situated Language Processing)/ AttLis (The Attentive Listener in the Visual World) Conference, 28-30 August 2019

Teaching Experience

Context effects in language processing: Designing and conducting experimental research Winter 2019

co-taught with Katja Maquate
Graduate Seminar taught at the Humboldt-Universität zu Berlin guided students in developing individual psycholinguistic research project on metaphor comprehension
Enrollment of 8 students
Language of instruction: English

The Psycholinguistics of Figurative Language 01-05.10.2019

Invited block Seminar at the University of Wrocław, Poland
Presented a selection of topics and current debates in the field of figurative language, with an emphasis on irony and metaphor processing
Enrollment of 18 students
Language of instruction: English

Statistics with R 05.08-16.08.2019

co-taught with Nicole Gotzner
Graduate Seminar at the XPRAG Summer school
Intensive 2 week course introducing the basics of null-hypothesis significance testing alongside the R programming language
Enrollment of 30 students
Language of instruction: English

The language of advertisement Summer 2018 & 2019

undergraduate Seminar at the Humboldt-Universität zu Berlin practical application of topics in Gricean pragmatics and cognitive science
Enrollment of 45-55 students
Language of instruction: German

The Psycholinguistics of Figurative Language Winter 2017 & 2018

undergraduate Seminar taught at the Humboldt-Universität zu Berlin
Presented a selection of topics and current debates in the field of figurative language, with an emphasis on irony and metaphor processing
Enrollment of 18 students
Language of instruction: English

Introduction to Linguistics Winter 2017

co-taught with Christine Mooshammer
undergraduate Seminar at the Humboldt-Universität zu Berlin
Introduced core topics in (generative) syntax, semantics and pragmatics with extensive practice material
Enrollment of 50 students
Language of instruction: German

Mentoring

Lydia Morgenstern, undergraduate thesis on visual metaphors

Tobias Schulz, undergraduate thesis on comprehension of verbal metaphors
